

Our Mission

The Farmers Museum has made many significant changes, and is continually striving to expand our knowledge of Orange County farming heritage and history, to pass on to future generations.

We protect and preserve the museum's collection of equipment and artifacts, and provide educational insights and programs to keep the public informed of local farm history and lifestyles.

Join the Farmers Museum with the entire family! Visit our website for a full events schedule. Volunteer to help! We work hard to generate public interest and involvement for the museum. We solely rely on volunteers and members for their time, donations, and for sharing their stories of farming with us.

Please donate and volunteer today!

THE MUSEUM

Our Story

The Orange County Farmers Museum is a living tribute to the Orange County Farm Family.

We started with one barn, a small workshop, a tiny visitor's center and a chicken coop.

We've added a working blacksmith shop, sawmill, run in shed, memorial barn, and an Education Center with heat and comfort stations.

We are preserving our Orange County Farming Legacy...

Honoring Our Farming Heritage

Our mission is to preserve, interpret and teach the history of local farming through equipment and artifacts. We are incorporating many new programs and events to enhance our educational value to visitors and to the community.

We are working hard to ensure this historic treasure in the Hudson Valley thrives and continues for many generations to come. Our assets are growing, our determination is strong, all made possible with member and volunteer support.

Your Support

Please join the museum and help us achieve our goals. The membership fee is nominal. Your membership or tax-deductible donation provides much needed support and supplies for our building programs, maintenance of equipment and operation of facilities.

The Orange County Farmers Museum needs member and volunteers to help make us a premiere destination in the Hudson Valley for learning about and enjoying early Orange County farm history and our local heritage.

Events

We have an exciting scheduled events throughout the year. Ask us for a full schedule or visit our website to view and print. Plan your organization's next event here; contact us for details
